A unique new portable audio-video product that will expand your advertising power to creative new areas! Literally!

The "Blah Blah" Box is a stand-alone, self contained, portable, indoor-outdoor, water-proof, audio-video announcement system that will "loop" advertising videos or public service announcements in virtually any location or environment, on rechargeable battery power. The "Blah Blah" Box contains (2) video screens on opposite sides and surround sound to accommodate essentially any placement, along with (2) enclosed lighted brochure display window cases.

The unit "loops" videos on (2) high quality video screens simultaneously, with 360 degree stereo sound. Video is conveniently loaded and played on any USB stick, in multiple formats... including personally recorded videos. With one simple switch, it starts and plays automatically all day on a rechargeable built-in battery system, and is easily recharged overnight. The unit is manufactured from light-weight, stamped, powder-coated aluminum; rolls easily on it's own casters, and has welded frame loops at the base for lock-down added security purposes.

Typical uses might include restaurants, malls, businesses, stores, hotels, airports, convention centers, trade-shows, service centers, virtually anywhere you would need to reach the public with information, news, updates, event dates, or sales promotions.
